

Entering eco-mode life

Please understand that my creative pace will slow down due to lack of energy

Because the winter supplement is excluded from the May payment, my welfare payment is 20,112 yen, but since there are 31 days in May... From now on, I will refrain from going out and save as much as possible so as not to waste calories. Even a short walk burns calories, so... My creative activities will probably decrease, but it's unavoidable... I will enter the ultimate eco-mode lifestyle...

There are 31 days in May...

From now on, I will refrain from going out and save as much as possible so as not to waste calories.

Even a short walk burns calories, so...

My creative activities will probably decrease, but it's unavoidable...

I will enter the ultimate eco-mode lifestyle...

Measures such as this have also been implemented, and I am not the only one who has been decided and implemented with such importance. I have seen the same articles all the time, and none of the media has picked up on them. It seems that prices have gone down because of the drastic change. By the way, please pay close attention to the fact that the reduction in the standard amount of welfare assistance and the reduction in the minimum wage are linked to some extent in the past, so this is not something that can just happen to someone else. So...

(Article Priority)

The "calling" incident > This policy decision

As I mentioned in my previous work, regular starvation leads to the production of ketone bodies, which makes me younger. I will become even younger..

(P.S.)

In my case, the percentage is higher when ketone bodies are being produced in large quantities.

「Stamps will be sent later」

This is a concern.

I'm not saying that I'm saying anything specific...

ties.