

Sorry, I can't watch the movie

Today, July 19th, if there are any of you who are joining me in living a frugal life by cooking only one meal a day, please hold on for about 11 more days... Let's support each other...

When that day comes, we will have experienced for ourselves the fact that a USW society is possible here in Japan. And I can only say this...

To all of you who are aware of my current state of hunger but are turning a blind eye, in the future, no matter what happens, you will not lend a hand at all and will turn a blind eye... From now on, whenever I go out, I will observe them while thinking to myself,

"What a hopeless bunch"... If they were employed,

I would secretly curse them for being such a passive person...

Next time I will ask them in front of many other customers how many years they have been working full-time, they must have more courage than most to go outside...

It's strange... Are they wearing masks even though it's so damn hot?

There is not a single foreigner around, so I will look even more closely...

Even when they ask me for help, they wave me off,

and of course they pretend not to notice...

I'm sorry again, but I will be working hard to get the cases I need...By the way, on a completely unrelated note... We don't have a TV at home, but I frequently watch and record SmartNews, Google News and weather forecast videos every day... This is what recording means... Before you know it, you've become a celebrity...

This is 100% possible... I didn't want to say this because I'm Japanese, but I'm going to tell you...

what a foreigner actually said when he said

"yellow Japanese"

on the spot... From now on, I'll tell you everything you don't want to know, even going back through history and into the future... It's all free, so you'll have to be prepared for that...